

DEVLYN VAN LOON
SPRING/SUMMER 2026 - UNISEX COLLECTION

ABOUT THE BRAND

Every Devlyn van Loon garment is designed to inspire confidence in the wearer by seamlessly combining comfort and functionality with casual elegance.

Rooted in an innovative and modern approach to patternmaking, we focus on translating measured, thoughtful details into effortless and streamlined silhouettes.

Our fabrics are chosen with sustainability, quality, and longevity in mind and are sourced from high-quality mills based in Japan, Canada, Korea, and India.

Each garment is produced in Canada in our studio or with our family-run local manufacturing partners. We produce each collection in small batches with meticulous stitching and french or flat felled seams to ensure an heirloom quality end product.

We believe in producing pieces with a respect for traditional craftsmanship that are built to last.

Our garments offer the wearer a sense of comfort, ease, and pleasure to be worn as a daily experience that is both tactile and luxurious.

ABOUT THE COLLECTION

Our S/S 2026 collection features a selection of washed linen blends milled and dyed in small batches in Kyoto, a crinkled Japanese cotton voile, and a selection of deadstock fabrics from our studio archive.

Each seasonal collection reflects the designer's experiences and current inspirations, offering a glimpse into their ever-evolving perspective.

This season, our designer has been inspired by an early childhood memory of weightlessness and how to translate the fleeting feeling of being "in between" into clothing. In addition, her recent time in Japan during the MLB Tokyo Series influenced a deep dive into early baseball uniforms, and the collection continues to have a utilitarian influence from early 20th-century workwear.

We translate these elements into garments that honor the beauty and significance of everyday life.
